THE KRUPP TRIAL.

A SENSATIONAL TURN.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received Oct. 29.
A sensational development has transpired in the Krupp trial. A witness named Von Moitzen, formerly Krupp's representative in Berlin, who is himself prosecuting Krupp in connection with his dismissal, asserted, in the course of his evidence, that he possessed correspondence from Krupp's directors showing that all, or at least many, of them were aware of the system of obtaining confidential information.

Counsel for the prosecution and the defence alike vehemently protested against the production in the middle of the trial of documents which were withheld at the preliminary proceedings, but the Court ordered their production, and in the meantime adjourned.

[The trial referred to follows that of the prosecution in August of officers for supplying Krupp with secret information. By it the State is now prosecuting Herr Brandt, head of Krupp's Berlin office, and two former directors of Krupp for alleged bribery of an official to betray military secrets.]

NEW ZEALAND NAVY.

THE NEW POLICY.

London, Received Oct. 29.
Reuter's correspondent at Wellington states that the Premier has announced that New Zealand discontinues her naval subsidy and takes up a greater responsibility. They had accepted the Imperial Government's offer of a light cruiser as a training ship and desired a cruiser of the British type, which if the Imperial Government is unable to provide, they recommend should be constructed in England at a cost of £400,000. "Builders on the Pacific," said the Premier, "aim at supremacy in these waters the same as in Europe." Meanwhile the training of New Zealanders has begun by the Naval Administration under the Dominion in peace-time and under the control of the Admiralty in wartime.

VENEREAL DISEASE.

CONSTITUTION OF COMMISSION.

London, Received Oct. 29.

J. Scott Lidgett (formerly President of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference), Mr. Philip Snowden (the well-known Labour M.P.), Mrs. Creighton, Mrs. Burgwin, Dr. Naveholme, Dr. Walker, Mr. Ernest Lane and Mrs. Scharlieb.

HOME RULE.

EXCHANGE OF VIEWS.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received Oct. 28.
The Daily Chronicle says there have been negotiations between the members of the Front Bench of both parties during the past three weeks in regard to Ireland. A Memorandum was drawn up by Mr. Asquith and his colleagues at the suggestion of an exalted personage, and the same course was taken by Lord Lansdowne and Mr. Bonar Law. The Memorandum was exchanged through an intermediary.

A Suggestion.
In the course of his speech at Berwick, Sir Edward Grey said the exclusion of Ulster was not a very hopeful or practical solution. The root difficulty was the fear of religious intolerance. This could be met by a modification of the Bill, giving Ulster Home Rule within Home Rule, as regards education, police, etc. In such a case it seemed absolutely incredible that Ulster had anything to fear, but such a modification of the Bill was conditional on its acceptance by both sides.

HOME RACING.

CAMBRIDGESHIRE STAKES.

London, Received Oct. 29.
The probable starters and jockeys for the Cambridgeshire Stakes, to be run at Newmarket on Wednesday over a distance of one mile one furlong, are:—Maiden Erleg (Walter Griggs), Florist (Maher), Light Brigade (Rickaby), Lorenzo (Whalley), Mercutio (Fry), Fairy King (W. Huxley), Bantam (R. Fa. Sharp), Drummer (Cheshire), Santair (Martin), Abolite (Jellies), Bluestone (Fox), Osella (Donoghue), Wise Mac (Robbins), Moxton (Herbert), Jameson (R. Stokes), Equanimity (Edison), Bagler (Marsh), Chenail (Cooper), and Desborough (—).

The betting is as follows:—9 to 1 Santair; 10 to 1 Drummer; 100 to 1 Osella; 100 to 1 Florist; 100 to 1 Fairy King, Maiden Erleg, Bagler and Wise Mac; 100 to 1 Lorenzo and Bluestone.

THE VANCOUVER STRIKE.

FAILURE OF THE MOVEMENT.

London, Received Oct. 29.
Reuter's correspondent at Victoria, says the Vancouver miners are returning work, and the soldiers are being gradually withdrawn. It is believed the United Mine-workers of America will declare the strike ended owing to the drain on their funds and their inability to win recognition from the employers.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

committed; therefore the evidence had to be circumstantial. Assuming that these witnesses came to the conclusion that Mak Tong committed this crime, their next step, if his contention was correct, was to think of everything suspicious Mak Tong had done during this period which fitted in with their preconceived ideas of his guilt. Mr. Jenkin then pointed out discrepancies in the evidence given by the various witnesses, contending that if the jury believed the evidence of any particular one they would necessarily have to disbelieve others. The testimony of the mother of the murdered girl was in many instances diametrically opposed to that given by Chan On.

In his concluding remarks, the Attorney General said he thought the jury might dismiss from their minds any suggestion that it was remarkable that the behaviour of the accused after he had been convicted of the crime was callous and that he displayed no sign of emotion or remorse or surprise. Some highly sensitive and highly organized person were terrified at the sight of blood, while others of less sensitive organization, were not in the least upset by scenes which a more delicate nature would shrink from. They would recollect that one of the most notorious criminals of recent years, Doctor Crippen, was so cold and collected after killing his wife or the woman with whom he lived for years and years with hyacinth, the North.

A HOPEFUL SIGN.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received Oct. 28.
Reuter's correspondent at Ottawa says that H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught was entertained to luncheon at the Canadian Club. Mr. McBride, the Premier of British Columbia, urged the immediate carrying out of the Borden policy of contribution to the Navy, and Mr. Scott, Premier of Saskatchewan, said that although many people in Saskatchewan were foreigners, all were warmly attached to British institutions and none would lag behind in the question of sharing the common burden of defence. In reply, the Duke of Connaught said he was glad to learn that Canadian pride in the British connection was universal.

ICEBERG DANGERS.

THE TEUTONIC'S ESCAPE.

London, Received Oct. 28.
On the arrival of the Teutonic at Liverpool it was reported that the liner had encountered icebergs east of Belle Isle. The engines were reversed and the ship created by a few yards.

that he actually dismembered and cut her up and put her in his own box. There were minor discrepancies in the evidence, but this went to show the truth of the story. A connected story would have contained no discrepancies, but where people came forward and told the true story, they would find in small details, slight discrepancies which did not however, affect the main truth of the main story.

He did not think that there could be any reasonable doubt that this was not a case of suicide. There seemed no conceivable reason why the child should have committed suicide and further than that, they had it most clearly from the Inspector that, so far as he could judge, it was impossible for this girl to have hanged herself in the way in which she was found suspended.

The jury, after a retirement lasting barely four minutes, unanimously returned a verdict of "Guilty" against the prisoner. Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed upon him, prisoner replied: "I have got nothing to say."

His Lordship, in passing sentence of death, said: "The jury have unanimously found you guilty of one of the most brutal murders it is possible for a body to be guilty of, and I do not think it would be possible for anyone who has heard the evidence to have arrived at any other conclusion. What your motive was, in taking away the life of that little girl, we can only conjecture and you alone must know. My duty is merely to pass upon you the sentence of the law, and to inform you that, so far as I know, you can have little hope for mercy in this world."

Prisoner, who had broken down on hearing the verdict, was led from the dock moaning pitifully, while his relatives in Court set up a mournful wail.

Disbandment of Troops.

The Premier has consulted with General Tzu-Chi-jai, Minister of War, on the disbandment of the troops in the provinces. They will begin with the Hunan and Fukien troops, which will be replaced by the Peiyang Army from the North.

AMERICAN POLICY.

NO NEW TERRITORY.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received Oct. 28.
Speaking at Mobile (Alabama) President Wilson said that while the United States would never again seek to secure an additional foot of territory by conquest, it was its duty to assist those States which were obliged to grant concessions to emancipate themselves from inevitable subordination to foreign interests.

"I ADMIT I'D STEAL"

Boy's Story of the "Robbers."

At the Police Court, this afternoon, before Mr. Hazeland, a Chinese was charged with stealing from a dwelling house in Shaikwan, a camera, clothing etc., valued at $48.60.

Mr. King, Assistant Superintendent of Police, prosecuted, and Mr. C. Farebrother Mason (Mr. L. D'Almeida Castro) defended.

Mr. King said the facts of the case briefly were that on Saturday October 11, a party of Portuguese ladies and gentlemen went to Budrea Villa, a house on the Shaikwan Road, near the Belle View Hotel, built by Mr. Easbrey, for the weekend. The party went on Saturday night, and on Sunday morning when they left for Hongkong to go to church, the defendant was the only person in the house. The party returned about 10.30 a.m. and they found the defendant locked inside one of the servants' rooms at the back of the house. The door was locked with an ordinary European lock which could be locked from either inside or outside, and they let him out. The keys were thrown in the court yard, between the servants' quarters and the back of the house. The key of the door was in one place and the defendant's own key to which was attached to a police whistle, in another spot, about eight yards distant from the window of the room in which the defendant was locked. The windows of this room were barred to prevent ingress and egress by that way. He (the defendant) reported that three armed robbers came to the place after the party had gone, tied him up, threatened him with a revolver, locked him in the room, went into the house and committed a robbery. The party then went into the house and found that a quantity of clothing, a camera and various other things had been taken from the house. The house was in disorder, drawers open, and the things named missing. The complainant then went to Tait Tsz Mui police station, but an Indian there did not understand, and information reached the police departmentally about 4.15 p.m. Inspector Cameron and some police went back and investigated and the defendant was brought to the station.

At the station forty cents were found on him and a piece of jade, gold mounted, which would be proved to belong to one of the ladies at the house who lost it the night before, and had had offered the defendant at the police station. He said he saw the robbers go up the hillside and he saw where they put the property. He was taken back to the house by Sergeant Edge and two Chinese detectives at nine o'clock, it then being pitch dark, and he took the police one hundred yards up the hillside, which was thickly wooded and very steep, and pointed out the camera in one place and a basket containing the cloth etc., and an empty basket in another, about two yards away. The case was proceeding as we went to press.

Trade Competition.

The question of long credit has always been something of a "bogey" to British merchants but it does not materially enter into the case. Buyers in India and China, in general with countries in the Far East, do not realise that they must arrange for payment when placing an order, and although it may be that German concerns are willing to extend greater financial facilities than the British for the sake of obtaining an initial order, it is the exception rather than the rule. In any event, the question of financing is a serious issue which has no importance bearing on the main point. The availability of goods to the market for which they are intended is the root of the whole matter and British manufacturers must learn that an article which is suited to the few European residents in the Far East is absolutely useless to the masses and that it is quantity and quality the native wants for rupee, his "hical" or Mexican dollar.

Daily Press.

Chinese Finance.

The negotiations for a further foreign loan to China by the Quinaple Group appear to be commenced, and the announcement can occasion little surprise when it is borne in mind that only some seven millions were available out of the former loan for the purposes of "reorganisation." In the meantime Government has had the task of the expense of suppressing a revolution. According to official reckoning, this has cost the Central Government ninety millions of dollars. We take to mean expenditure in hard cash from the Government treasury out of the meagre seven millions of pounds sterling left of the loan after the satisfaction of prior claims made upon it. Nineteen millions of dollars about two million pound sterling—cannot represent the cost of the civil warfare which endured in parts of the country for upwards of two months. takes no count of the expenditure on the rebel side out of the taxation of the provinces they have a time controlled or of the large contributions to the rebel cause from funds which wealthy people living within the area of disturbance, made voluntarily or under the influence of fear; nor do it take account of the very large sums taken from Provincial treasuries by many fugitive rebels now in exile and living in ease and comfort on these ill-gotten gains.

Eugenics and Marriage.

The operation of Pennsylvania's new marriage-licence law, which provides a list of about twenty intimately personal questions to be answered by prospective bride and groom under oath, brings the whole question of eugenics again into editorial notice, in the United States. Some observers doubt the wisdom of the Pennsylvania law, although they unhesitatingly advocate the eugenic movement as a social effort which has come to stay and "to exercise an increasingly beneficial influence" on our national life. On the other hand, there are those who have only a superior contempt for "the apostles of eugenics" and point out as the fatal error of their theories that human beings can not be "mated scientifically" as animals are mated. According to press reports, Pennsylvania's law, which went into effect on August 1, prohibits the issuance of a marriage license to persons having transmissible disease and to imbeciles, persons under guardianship, and persons of unsound mind. The marriage of first cousins is forbidden, furthermore, and to secure a license a man must be able to show he can support a family. Finally, no licenses will be issued to persons "under the influence of liquors or narcotics."

GENERAL NEWS.

How to Wear the Kilt.

Lord L. and Lord Sheffield, the Mackintosh of Mackintosh, Lochiel (Mr. Cameron of Lochiel), and others have assisted the Inverness Kilt Society in drawing up rules for the correct wearing of the Highland dress. They state:—"The kilt is to touch the centre of the kneecap in front, and great care must be taken that the kilt is not lower on one side than the other. The lower part of the belted plaid is exactly to reach to the bottom of the kilt. The hose are to be worn one inch higher than the centre of the calf of the leg (a good guide is to get the top of the hose just below the small bone on the outside of the leg, below the kneecap). There should be about the breadth of the hand between the top of the hose and the bottom of the kilt."

Czar's Furs.

On furs alone the Czar spends at least £1,000 a year, and sometimes more. Every winter His Imperial Majesty purchases two fur coats that cost him 250 guineas each, and every three years or so he purchases a couple of coats that cost him double that figure. In addition to these coats, the Czar buys a number of fur caps and pairs of fur gloves, which cost him £200 or £300 a year. The value of the fur in the Czar's wardrobe is generally estimated as being from £2,000 to £3,000. The Czar has paid as much as a thousand guineas for a single coat of sable lined with ermine, but he would buy a coat of this sort probably only once in five years. The type of fur coat regularly worn by the Czar is of bearskin, partially lined with sable or ermine, which costs about £250, though, of course, the price of furs is constantly changing. The Czar is always extremely quietly, though very well, attired. All his clothes are of dark material, and he is especially fond for ordinary wear of a dark grey.

Reading at Meals.

A very great mistake made by a large number of persons—mistake which leads to indigestion and all its attendant horrors—says Health is the practice of reading at meals. Digestion is always best subserved when the mind is free from care, and when the physical processes of our frames are left to discharge their work free from nervous trammels. It is on the ground of the elevation of spirits produced by cheerful association with others that "pleasant company" at meals has always formed a condition of social enjoyment. The stimulus to nervous activity which is thus given acts beneficially on the digestive powers, just as the man who is harassed, worried, and over-excited will not be likely to digest or eat a satisfactory meal. The habit of reading at meals is to be condemned when it has grown to one of actual "study," and where the reader endeavours to gain knowledge and to save time at his meals. The solitary eater, if he reads, should read what is light and amusing.

Prince Renounces Titles for an Actress.

As the outcome of a romantic love affair, Prince Nikolaus of Thurn and Taxis, who is closely connected with the Court of Vienna, through his relationship with the late Empress Elizabeth, has renounced all his Royal rights and titles. It appears that the Prince, who is 28, told his mother, whose second husband is Prince Max of Ratibor, a short time ago, of his intention to marry a Vienna actress, Fraulein Reuberg. The family of Taxis refused to give permission, and the Prince has now resigned his title, as well as his commission as a first lieutenant in the German Navy, and has received part of the large inheritance which will one day fall to him, to help him in the foundation of his new life of a farmer in Texas. The Prince Regent of Bavaria has given the Prince the hereditary title of Baron Hochstatt. The marriage of the ex-Prince will be celebrated in England. Two other members of the Prince's family have renounced their birthrights in the past, one that he might marry an actress and himself work on the stage, and the other that he might become a farmer in German East Africa.

NOVEL HOSPITAL EXHIBIT.

Perfect Home, Designed by Royal Hands.

It will be recalled that at the last Ideal Home Exhibition, at Olympia, Prince Alexander of Teck, on behalf of the Middlesex Hospital, enlisted the active sympathies of many well-known ladies, who decorated a number of dinner tables in accordance with their individual tastes. The display attracted so much attention, and was so great a financial success, that for this year's exhibition, says the Daily Telegraph of September 19, which opened on October 9, Prince Alexander has initiated a far more ambitious scheme, with the object of raising money for the reconstruction of the children's ward at the hospital.

This is the creation of what may be described as a "perfect home," each room of which has been arranged, decorated, and furnished by a well-known lady. Queen Alexandra readily assented when asked to help. Princess Alexander of Teck freely gave her assistance, and every one of the other eight ladies promised to do all that lay in her power to further the project. Below is a list of these ladies, with the rooms they are undertaking:

Queen Alexandra—A Day and Night Nursery.
Princess Alexandra—An Adult Drawing Room.
The Duchess—A Georgian Dining Room.
The Marchioness—An English 18th Century Bedroom.
The Countess—An Early 16th Century Venetian Bedroom.
The Countess of Plymouth—A William and Mary Library.
Lady Islington—A 17th Century Parlour.
Lady Holford—The Hall.
Lady Speyer—A Queen Anne Boudoir.
Viscountess An Old English Wolsley Garden.

Nearly the whole of the plans and scheme of decoration have been completed, and the furniture has either been chosen or is in the course of special manufacture. The nine rooms and the garden will occupy the whole of the Minor Hall in the Gallery at Olympia.

The Children's Quarters.

The day and night nursery, designed by Queen Alexandra, has walls of a light neutral colour, with a quaint pictorial frieze placed at just the right height from the floor for a child to see. The nursery is lighted by a big square bay-window, with a large window-seat, which forms a box for toys. The furniture, "child size" in all details, is of hickory, war-painted, and the chimney-piece is bright with pictorial Dutch tiles. The hygienic details have been carefully considered. Every angle in the room has been curved off from the floor to ceiling, in order to prevent the accumulation of dust, and to make the work of cleaning easy. Adjoining the nursery is a bathroom fitted with a child's porcelain bath, wardrobe, etc.

The Adam Drawing Room, designed by Princess Alexandra of Teck, has panels filled with an old Wedgwood blue "brocade." China cupboards fill shaped recesses on either side of the window. The chimney-piece is a reproduction in inlaid marble of an Adam example. There is a crystal chandelier in the centre, and the furniture is of fine old satinwood, decorated in the Angelica Kaufmann style.

The Duchess of Rutland's Georgian Dining-room is of the 1750 period; the wooden paneling being painted an old ivory-white. In the centre is an oval mahogany table, laid for dinner, and a Persian carpet covers the floor. The room is lighted by a carved wooden candelabra and gilt wall lights. The English eighteenth-century bed-room, arranged by the Marchioness of Anglesey, has a panelled dado of white, surmounted by a Chinese wall-paper. The mahogany bedstead is a replica of one in South Kensington Museum, and the hangings and curtains are of hand-printed chintzes. The Venetian bed-room, by the Countess of Lytton, is hung with a deep rose silk damask. The bed a canopy of velvet brocade. The floor is stencilled in black on a white ground.

Library and Parlour.

Designed by the Countess of Plymouth, the "William and Mary" Library is enriched by silvered carved wood. There is a writing table of English walnut, a fine Persian carpet, and the curtains are of brocade damask. The seventeenth century parlour, by Lady Islington, is panelled in a simple old grey o.k. The floor is covered with grass matting, and Persian rugs, and the furniture is of the Stuart period, the fittings being in old silver.

Lady Holford's Tudor hall has tapestry panels and an oak-beamed ceiling. The floor is of old oak, with an Oriental rug. Powder and brass ornaments are being introduced. A Queen Anne boudoir, by Lady Speyer, has green panelled walls, with a powder-blue carpet, and powder-blue silk damask curtains. The furniture is inlaid English walnut, and the chandelier and wall lights are of silver.

The Old English garden, arranged by Viscountess Wolsley, will be characterised by madonnas, stone paths, clipped box hedges, and old-fashioned flowers. The garden and stone figures are characteristic of the period chosen—that of William and Mary. The decoration and furnishing of the rooms has been undertaken by Messrs. Waring and Gillow, and the work in the garden has been executed by Messrs. Chubb and Sons, of Crawley.

THE HISTORIC CHRIST.

At the Church Congress the Rev. O. W. Emmet read a paper on "The Teaching of the Historic Christ: Our Knowledge of it and its Interpretation." He said the belief in an infallible Church was obviously impossible under present conditions, while modern studies had shown that the belief in an infallible Bible was equally untenable.

The evidence of the Gospels themselves and the history of their origin made it hopeless to attempt to rely on the letter of the words spoken by Jesus, and they were driven back on the old contrast between the spirit and the letter. That was the principle they had always recognized, in theory, though they had been somewhat timid with regard to its application in detail.

It was not difficult to see in the imperfections of the records a providential purpose which turned apparent loss into gain. There was the danger that the actual words of Jesus should become a new law, interpreted on the same principle as the old and that a new yoke of tradition should take the place of that which He came to abolish. Men yearned for concrete, dogmatic authority. "Tell me clearly what to do in all the complications of life and I will try to do it; tell me definitely what I am to believe about its mysteries, and I will believe it." That was for many the line of least resistance. It was easier to live under any authority, even the hardest, than in the freedom of the good, but that was not the method of Christ, who always made men think for themselves, and tried to draw out the best that was in them. To some extent each individual, to a greater extent each age and Church, must bravely shoulder the responsibility of interpreting for itself the mind of Christ and applying the principle of His teaching to its own needs and circumstances.

Mr. Emmet's criticisms called forth some cries of "Shame" and other expressions of dissent, but the President, the Bishop of Winchester, described his address as fearless, lucid, and reverent.

London is always alive with alien customs. While American States are passing laws against kissing in public there was an encounter recently in Regent-street (quite proper and Continental), which startled me for a moment. A young man met three young women—brother and sisters. I should say

OVERWORK AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

How to Remove and Avoid Them.

Tired brains, broken sleep, irritable temper, disordered digestion—who does not know the torture of these and other nervous symptoms when he is overworked or overwrought from any cause?

These symptoms are all due to the phosphorus of the brain and body being used faster than it can be obtained from the food. A cure can, therefore, only be obtained by restoring the phosphorus. This is exactly what Sanatogen does. Dr. C. W. Saleeby, the eminent medical author, writes: "A special point about Sanatogen is not only that phosphorus is there, but it is absorbed. It appears to have solved the problem of giving phosphorus in such a way that the nervous system can take hold of it—a problem which has not hitherto been solved by the usual modes of administering this element."

The result is, as Sir Luke White, M. P., one of the most distinguished lawyers in the House of Commons, writes: "My experience of Sanatogen confirms the medical opinion. There is no longer that feeling of fatigue which one previously experienced, but there follows from its use a distinct restorative effect."

Neither country nor climate makes any difference to Sanatogen's action. Sanatogen may be obtained of all Chemists, in bottles of two sizes.

PEKING AND THE PROVINCES.

Now that the Republic of China has been formally admitted to the comity of nations, it is not too much to hope that the many problems concerned with the internal development of the country will be faced by the central authorities and taken in hand in such a way as to impress both officials and the public alike that real business is meant. While the point requires no elaboration, it is the fact that hitherto in many parts of the country—notably in the South and in the Central Provinces—there has too often been a complete disregard of Peking show, by the Provincial officials. Tutuhs and their underlings have gone along as though they were laws unto themselves, and Peking has been powerless, in many instances, to impose its will on headstrong officials. The danger of such a situation is only too obvious. A nation without cohesion—one that is divided against itself—cannot stand. So it is clear that not alone from other countries does China need to be delivered; she must be saved from herself if she is to make progress in the future.

The whole difficulty arises from the fact that there has sprung up a new class of official whose chief aim is to get as much out of his job, in the way of emolument and "squeeze," as is humanly possible. To be sure, there existed many office-bearers of this type under the Manchu regime, but that does not condone the modern maraud of the nation following in their wake. Else why the change to Republicanism? Then, too, there is an all too common failure on the part of the new type of officials to realise the seriousness of the task to which they have put their hands. If the policy declared by President Yuan is strictly followed out, many of the present evils should disappear, inasmuch as the Premier and the Minister for Home Affairs have now been instructed to fix the time-limits within which officials shall reach their posts after appointment, and to frame laws governing the examination and appointment of civil officials, the discrimination of their merits and demerits, and the degrees of punishment and fines to be meted out to offenders. That is what is urgently needed, for only by strong, deliberate, and carefully planned action from the seat of Government can the Provinces be got under control and kept thoroughly in hand.

Tip for the Police.

Police, as well as ordinary individuals, occasionally need to be educated up to a point. So, for the information of the Force and the officials—and especially that section of the Force detailed to hunt down little nippers with the Telegraph in their possession—we wish to explain that there is a big distinction between a sales boy and a delivery boy. That distinction lies in the fact that the latter merely has papers in his possession for delivery to subscribers; he does not sell papers on the street. He differs in no particular from any other man or boy who carries a box or parcel for delivery. We are led to make the police a present of this bit of information because of the fact that last night one of the Telegraph delivery boys came back to the office, in fear and trembling, stating that he was afraid to pass Indian Constable B.22, who was standing in a threatening attitude near our office, grabbing at any and every boy who happened to have a Telegraph in his possession. If this sort of thing is allowed to continue where will it end? A child with an chit book will be the next to "run in."

No Sportsman.

To continue the story, one of the European members of our staff for a time watched the antics of this burly guardian of the peace, whose chief occupation, apart from frightening innocent Telegraph boys, appeared to be playing with stray dogs and watching the street traffic. Anyhow, the appearance of our representative on the scene was promptly effective, for the bullying Sikh soon retreated from his molestations. At home, in courting and pigeon-shooting, the hare and the pigeon are at least given a chance. But we are afraid that Constable B.22 is no sportsman; he stands almost literally in our doorway, so keen is he on getting a full "bag." He might at least give the youngsters a sporting run for it. The matter is a serious one, though. We do not wish to dictate to the police, but just a whisper—if they want to perform some useful service to the community, we would remind them of the large number of petty larcenies taking place just now.

AN AMUSING COMMENT.

An American consul on special service in India makes an amusing comment in his report to Washington, with reference to American motor cycles in India. Local dealers have informed him, he says, that American manufacturers should not send red bicycles to India, the red colour of the one American car now offered there having greatly interfered with its sale. These cycles should be either black, blue or slate colour, he adds, and explains that red in India is the colour of official service, and persons in red uniform in the service of the Government who might be using motor cycles do not seem to wish their cycles to make their clothing, nor do persons not in the public service wish to ride cycles of a colour which might suggest that they are postmen or policemen.

A Fine Library.

The library of the Royal Colonial Institute, which already contains 100,000 works relating to all parts of the Empire overseas, has received a notable addition in a collection of over 700 books and pamphlets relating to Cyprus, presented by Mr. C. The collection includes practically everything relating to Cyprus that has been printed, and the books range in date from the early 16th century to the present time. Many of them are works of great value.

NEW MOTOR BOATS FOR CANTON DELTA.

One Feet Three Inches Mean Draft.

Messrs. W. S. Bailey and Co., Ltd., of Kowloon, have handed over to the Standard Oil Co., of New York the second of two light draft motor boats designed for service as inspection boats for the Company's increasing business above Canton. The vessels, named respectively Wah Mei and Cheung Mei, are of the house boat type and each 42 feet in length. There is a short deck space forward for handling the anchors and similar deckroom aft for accommodation of water trunks and crews galley, etc., the space between being occupied by the housing with ample head room and comprising motor room, large saloon, bath room and European galley. The steering gear and oil tanks are fitted upon the upper deck.

The motors are of the 30 horse power Kelvin type, starting on petrol and working with kerosene, and driving the vessels at 7 knots per hour on four continuous measured mile trials. The vessels have a mean draft of 1 ft. 3 ins. only.

Messrs. Bailey &amp; Co. have already built forty motor yachts, house boats and cabin cruisers, both twin and single screw, of length from 16 ft. to 70 ft. and from 3 h.p. to 100 h.p., many of the boats being shipped on steamers deck to Vancouver, Java, and elsewhere.

The motors fitted in these vessels include the Kelvin, Fay and Bowen, Djin, Forth, Gardner, Gray, Atlas, Speedway, Lwe Victor, Fairbanks Morse, Standard, Thorneycroft, Otto, Martin and Daimler, and the Company are steadily improving their designs for such vessels in regard to speed and draft, quality of work and quickness of output.

The vessels now building in the Company's yard include a 45 feet motor boat, a 70 feet steam tug, two 90 feet steel barges of 150 tons capacity and a steel cargo steamer for the Manila lumber trade. The latter vessel is 191 feet in length by 30 feet 6 ins. beam and 15 feet 6 ins. deep. She will carry 1,000 tons dead weight, be built to Lloyd's highest class, and have four derricks with winches each capable of lifting six tons. The engines are triple expansion of 700 horse power, supplied with steam from a boiler 14 ft. 6 ins. diameter at a working pressure of 180 lbs. per square inch.

The Company have also in hand steel wharves in Canton for the Chinese Maritime Customs and for the Hongkong Canton and Macao Steamboat Co., and in Amoy for the Standard Oil Co., besides general repair and sundry work.

THE NEWSBOY AGAIN.

No Licence, and a Fine of $2.

Last evening in Pedder Street, Lai Yin was offering the Hongkong Telegraph for sale when he was arrested by Indian constable Shanker Kham. The constable took the boy to the Central Station and there charged him with hawking without a licence.

At the Police Court, this morning, before Mr. Wood, the boy was charged, and he admitted he had no licence, adding that he was told to sell the papers "by the Office."

His Worship asked if the boy was bailed out?

The boy answered in the affirmative.

His Worship fined the boy $2, or, in default, three days.

Sultan of Muscat's Death.

According to the Pioneer the disease which caused the death of the Sultan of Muscat was dropsy, from which he had been suffering for some time. His son Taimur succeeded in the natural course and there is not likely to be any dispute as to his succession. Another son, it may be remembered, did good service against the rebels in August, though he had eventually to retire upon Muscat town.

COUNSEL AND SOLICITOR.

Mr. Slade and Mr. Brutton in Argument.

There was quite a lively few minutes at the Police Court, this morning, when Mr. Slade K.O. and Mr. Brutton had an argument concerning a case that came before Mr. Hazeland.

Cheung Sau-nam was charged with embezzling $150,000, the property of the Chinese government, and was defended by Mr. Brutton, of Messrs. Brutton and Hett, Mr. Slade K.O., and Mr. Master, the latter of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Master, sat by his side.

Inspector Watt appeared for the police.

Defendant:—I took the money, but I did not steal it.

His Worship:—I will enter a plea of not guilty on that.

Inspector Watt:—May I have a week's remand in this case, as the Crown Solicitor is not prepared to go on yet?

Mr. Brutton:—I ask for bail.

His Worship:—There will be a formal remand for a week. (To Mr. Slade) Are you appearing in this case?

Mr. Slade:—Yes, I am.

Mr. Brutton:—Your Worship, I must object to Mr. Slade appearing.

Mr. Slade:—Allow me to state my position before you object.

Mr. Brutton:—We have heard from Inspector Watt that the Crown Solicitor is prosecuting.

His Worship:—Well, I must adjourn for Mr. Hodgson to attend.

Mr. Brutton: I object to Mr. Slade.

Mr. Slade:—Well, will you allow me to state my position before you raise your objection?

Mr. Brutton:—Certainly.

Mr. Slade:—The position is this. The Crown Solicitor, who, your Worship will remember appeared yesterday, and I appeared with him in the matter, has been unable to attend today and the matter was referred to the police and they were referred for legal advice to Mr. Master. I am here in fact representing him, though I have not received formal instructions from him. It is a matter about way of doing it, but he (the Crown Solicitor) can't appear, and he has asked somebody else to do his work for him for the time being. I think I am perfectly correct in saying I appear for the Crown Solicitor, though, as I say, I have received no formal instructions. I am appearing for the prosecution; he (Mr. Brutton) cannot get away from that. The prosecution is practically by the Chinese government, and I am appearing for the Chinese government. I am actually—I am appearing for the Crown in fact, so that according to all the forms in use in England and everywhere else, I appear for the Crown though my direct instructions do not come from the Crown.

His Worship:—It is only a case of adjournment?

Mr. Slade:—That's all.

Mr. Brutton:—It is not a question of adjournment at all, your Worship; the man is entitled to bail under the Magistrate's Ordinance.

His Worship:—Not a question of Mr. Slade's address. You have no objection to that?

Mr. Brutton: Yes, I have in respect to his appearing for the Crown. We have a Crown Solicitor, an Assistant Crown Solicitor and an Attorney General in the Colony.

Mr. Slade: Will your Worship put it on your notes I am appearing for the Crown, and they can challenge my authority as much as they like; I am appearing for the Crown.

Mr. Brutton: We have Mr. Bowley appearing for the Crown, now we have Mr. Slade appearing for the Crown, we shall have all the solicitors in the place appearing shortly for the Crown.

Mr. Slade:—Why not?

Mr. Brutton:—When men are paid to do this work.

Mr. Slade:—There is only you objecting to it.

Mr. Brutton: Mr. Slade told us himself that he was appearing for the Chinese government and now he says for the Crown.

Mr. Slade:—Yes, perfectly accurate.

His Worship:—What bail can you put up?

Mr. Brutton:—Reasonable bail. His Worship:—What do you call reasonable bail?

Mr. Brutton:—$5,000.

Inspector Watt:—I have been instructed, your Worship, by the Captain Superintendent of Police to oppose bail except it is for the amount of the charge, $150,000.

Mr. Brutton:—That is excessive. This money they claim is in Russia Asiatic Bank.

His Worship: That is part of the corpus delictum.

Mr. Brutton: We claimed the money and now the Chinese government claim the money. We have as much right to that money as anyone else in the meantime, and now the police ask, according to Inspector Watt, for excessive bail. The bail must be reasonable and sufficient in your discretion to secure the attendance of this man at the trial, but an excessive bail like that is absolutely unreasonable. We cannot touch this money, your Worship, the money is attached to the bank. He (the defendant) claims the money and says "it is mine," and the Chinese government apparently say it is theirs. Now it is not for your Worship to say to whom the money belongs. This bulk is in the bank and he says it belongs to him. They know that that is sufficient to keep this man in the Colony without netting up another $150,000. Your Worship $5,000 will assure this man's attendance; he can't return to China. They want him to return there. This money is all fiat and if you put up a prohibitive bail he must stay in jail and that does not give him a chance to prepare his defence. I should say he is safer here than anywhere.

His Worship:—I am fixing bail and in doing so I am following the practice of not fixing it lower than the corpus delictum. I am making an order for him to be released on bail in $150,000.

Mr. Brutton:—That is a departure from all the reasonable laws on the subject of bail.

His Worship:—I cannot hear on any more.

"TWELFTH NIGHT."

Second Performance at the Theatre Royal.

The second performance of "Twelfth Night" at the Theatre Royal, by the Hongkong Muncipals showed that in the interval after the first there had been some little polishing off of the corners which generally appear in an initial performance. The whole piece went more smoothly, and the various articles had fitted into their part and a decided improvement was to be noticed. Especially was this the case with the Malvolio of Mr. Lowder, who showed himself more at home with his part last evening, and certainly gave a vastly improved performance over that of the first. In fact, he quite filled the part and did well when it came to finding the letter laid for him by the merry conspirators. He did full justice to the incident. The Maria of Mrs. Hunt was a most charming portrayal of an interesting character, and to say that she came up to the high standard she has set herself in the Colony is only to give moderate praise for a meritorious work. Mrs. Hastings deserves every congratulation for the delightful representation of Viola and especially for her singing in the second act.

Mr. M. S. Northeast and Mr. L. N. Leefe as Sir Toby Belch and Sir Andrew Aguecheek were both excellent in their parts, and their persistent fooling was enriched by much business which was true comedy, while Mr. C. P. Hay confirmed the already good opinion which was formed of him on Saturday night. There was a very full house and applause was most generously accorded.

The Tibetan Question.

The Tibetan conference in India has been adjourned because Great Britain and the Dalai Lama jointly demand of the Chinese Government to acknowledge the autonomy of Tibet. China is not to send a resident to Lhasa and will have to pay compensation to the Tibetans for damages during the fighting between the Szechuen forces and the Tibetan rebels.

HONGKONG CRICKET CLUB.

Annual Meeting Yesterday. Afternoon.

The annual meeting of the Hongkong Cricket Club was held yesterday in the club pavilion. Mr. F. Maitland, the President, presiding. Among those present were:

Hon. Secretary (Mr. P. M. Hodgson), Messrs. J. W. C. Bonnar, H. A. Nisbet, H. Hancock, A. C. E. Elborough, J. R. Wood, A. O. Lang, and Captain Robertson.

The Chairman said:—The report and accounts have been in your hands for a few days and I will as usual take them as read. Regarding the accounts, your Committee once more regret having to face you without having repaid any of the outstanding debentures ($14,450)—not quite a good security as Hongkong Hotel debentures, although interest on them has always been paid punctually. (Laughter.) The account before you shows a great improvement in many respects in comparison with the previous year's account, notwithstanding the heavy loss on the racquet court. But for this loss, which is about $1,000, after allowing for subscriptions from members (very few) who have joined the club for racquets alone, and the writing off of $542.51, an accumulation of bad debts from previous seasons, which should have been allowed for by our late Secretary and Treasurer, we would have been able to repay about $1,500 worth of debentures a result in a large measure due to our new and energetic Secretary and Treasurer, and the thanks of the club are due for the amount of time and care he has given to our interests. (Applause.) He quite recently informed your Committee that he found the work of the two posts too onerous, so they have appointed Mr. O. Bernard-Brown as Treasurer, and I am sure the two together will do all they can to make the Club a success financially. The accounts have been carefully analysed by your Committee, and any explanations you may wish for I will give to the best of my ability. I would mention that of the $741.13 sundry debtors, $305 have already been collected and $50 allowed for possible bad debts, which our Secretary considers ample. Then all stocks have been taken at or under cost price. The large stock of racquet gear is all in tin-lined cases, and has resulted from the continued lack of interest in the game. Your Committee in consequence decided to try and get our military friends to take over the courts, and I am pleased to say they have done so and are turning one of them into a squash racquet court, which should be popular. I feel sure that civilians who desire to play racquets or squash racquets will be let into the new Club as they require same at prices totalling $1,135, which is well under cost price. I have heard it remarked that before getting rid of the racquet courts we should have called an extraordinary general meeting, but I hope that members will agree that it was as well for your Committee to clinch the bargain on the spot, for the loss to our Club since the courts were first given to us in 1908, when I was the Honorary Treasurer of the club, has been very large. A few years ago I referred to this loss and stated that the courts would have to be shut up and the staff dismissed if they were not more patronised. The Secretary has informed me that twelve civilians in all played racquets last season and of these eight were cricketers. Last season no tournament was held, and we do not know what to do with the old Championship Challenge Cup. On it are the following names:

1898—Commander Grafton, R. N.
1897—Colonel Gordon, W. Y.
1898—Capt. C. B. Simons, R. A.
1902—F. C. Francis-Hayhurst, R. W. F.
1899-1901 1903-5 1909-12—H. C. R. Hancock (ten years).
1908-8—H. R. B. Hancock (three years).

I recommend that the brothers Hancock keep the Cup and perhaps take for it. They have offered to give a new cup in its place for the Racquet Championship of the new Club if we will allow them to become the owners outright of the old cup, which is naturally of more value to them than to any one else. We had a successful cricket season, for we beat Shanghai last November on our ground and our "B" team won the Cricket League. Congratulations to the winning teams and to Mr. R. Hancock and Mr. Maas for respectively leading the batting averages and bowling analysis. Further, we congratulate all the winners in a very interesting tennis tournament, especially of the scratch events; Mr. H. A. Nisbet the "Championship," and Major Bowen and Capt. Crawford the "Professional pairs." I ask both cricketers and tennis players "When is the new blood coming along to successfully compete with our old players?" If the tennis championship is won for the third year in succession by Mr. Nisbet, the "only" challenge cup will become his property and we shall have to look round for a new cup. We are under contract to send a team of cricketers to Shanghai next May, so as to keep up our eighteenth-monthly competitions with the Model Settlement. To beat Shanghai on their own ground we shall require the best eleven in the Colony and the players will have to be in their best form to bring back a Shanghai flag. We are fortunate in having such a sporting Governor and Acting Governor, and I hope they will not consider it presumptuous on my part when I say that any cricketers in the Government Service who may be selected will probably be allowed leave of absence for at most a fortnight, and I take this opportunity of asking Taipans to see that any men in their offices who have the honour of being asked to represent the Colony are ordered to go North. And now for tennis. Year by year more facilities have been given to tennis players, and your Committee, after considerable discussion, have decided to throw open the whole ground for tennis on every Monday and Wednesday in future. On other days there will be a few tennis courts open for play. Further, that the ground will remain open all the year round, but from 1st May till 31st August, each year, when no subscription is due, players will have to pay for the balls they use. I hope these further concessions will lead to more playing members joining the Club. We congratulate the L.H.C. on again lasting us in the annual match, but in my opinion until we see ladies playing in this competition the interest in the event will not be keen, for almost invariably the men selected belong to both clubs, which has discounted the interest taken in the match in the past. A quite interesting racquet tournament was held recently, with the following results:

Mr. P. M. Hodgson "Championship"

Mr. P. M. Hodgson "Single Handicap"

Hon. Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Baker "Double Handicap."

I hope all members will do their best to get both playing and non-playing members to join the Club. The latter can join without entrance fee for $10 per year, and they have the privilege of competing in our annual racquet tournament and to play lawn bowls if they so desire. The club owes thanks to Mr. H. C. Joass and Mr. O. Bernard-Brown for auditing the accounts. I beg to propose the adoption of the report and accounts before you. (Applause.)

Mr. D. E. Donnelly seconded, and the motion was carried.

On the motion of Mr. Hancock, seconded by Mr. Nisbet, Mr. F. Maitland was unanimously elected President of the Club.

The following were elected to the Committee:—Messrs. R. Hancock, A. C. E. Elborough, H. A. Nisbet, T. E. Pearce, W. D. Jupp, A. R. Sutherland, and T. H. King. Major Dickinson, D.C.L.I., and Captain Robertson.

The Chairman said he had a matter to mention which would probably prove of interest to the members. Captain Day, whom they knew as Champion at tennis in the Colony before, and who gave Mr. Nesbitt a terribly hard fight in the final two or three years ago—and another gentleman who had recently won the Singapore Championship at tennis—were due to arrive here in two or three days, and had challenged the best players at tennis. The match would probably take place on Wednesday, and ought to be a very fine game indeed. Singapore had always been noted for especially fine tennis players. What he had said about the Racquet Cup was entirely his own idea, and he would like to get the feeling of the meeting on the suggestion. It was stated that the Club could not legally and properly deal with the matter at that meeting and that an extraordinary general meeting would have to be called, upon the signature of ten members.

The Chairman undertook to call a meeting to deal with the matter.

ARMS AND AMMUNITION.

Concealed in Socks and Shirts.

At the Police Court, this morning, a woman was charged by constable 27, with being in unlawful possession of two pistols, a rifle and 130 rounds of ammunition in a sampan.

The constable said he found the pistols in the bottom of the sampan, and the rifle wrapped up in the rags in a kit bag. Some of the ammunition was found concealed in a pair of socks, and some in a shirt.

A fine $100 or in default six weeks imprisonment was imposed.

Box which Contained "Nothing"

At the Police Court, this morning, before Mr. Wood, two Chinese who had arrived from America on the Empress of Russia, were charged with being in unlawful possession of five rifles, 3,800 rounds of ammunition, 1,000 cartridge cases, and 2,000 primers.

Mr. R. C. Faithfull defended.

A Chinese constable deposed to seeing the defendants dragging the box on board the ship, and when he asked the defendants what the box contained they replied "nothing." He noticed the box was very heavy, and he called Sergeant Pincoff, who asked the men for the keys and opened the box. In the box the arms and ammunition were found.

Sergeant Pincoff said the first defendant gave him the keys and he opened the box. He found the arms and the ammunition produced in the box. The first defendant said the box was not his and the second man said it did not belong to the first defendant. At first they claimed the box as theirs, among four others.

By Mr. Faithfull: Though the box was opened by one of the keys on the bunch produced by the first defendant, he could not lock it with any of the keys on the bunch. There was nothing either outside or inside the box that connected the defendants with the box.

Mr. Faithfull argued that the box was not the property of the men charged and said that if his Worship would adjourn the case he would prove that the box was one that could not have been opened by any of the keys on the defendant's bunch. There were letters in the box, but none of the letters connected the defendants with the box. The letters did not bear the name of either of the defendants. They were on their way to Sunning.

The case was adjourned until Friday next.

Didn't Know the Law.

Another man charged with being in unlawful possession of a revolver and some ammunition, for whom Mr. Faithfull pleaded guilty, was fined $100. Mr. Faithfull said the man had been in America since he was fifteen years of age and he did not understand the law.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

Charge of Murder Proved against a Youth.

At the Criminal Sessions this afternoon, before the Chief Justice, Sir William Rees Davies, the hearing was continued of a charge of murder preferred against a youth named Mok Tong. He pleaded not guilty.

The Attorney General (the Hon. Mr. J. A. S. Bucknill, K.C.), instructed by Mr. G. A. Woodcock, prosecuted on behalf of the Crown, and Mr. F. C. Jenkin, instructed by Mr. C. Fairbrother Mason, was for the defence.

The following jury was empanelled:—Messrs S. D. Hickey, S. W. Atkins, J. A. Schultz, P. Oliver, J. B. Gutierrez, D. E. Donnelly, B. W. Bradbury.

Mr. Jenkin, in the course of a lengthy speech for the defence, said the Attorney General rightly classed the case as being a brutal murder if it were a murder at all. The fact that girl died and was found hanging to a tree was undisputed. Whether she came by her death as the result of murder or by her own act they were all there to try to solve. He asked the jury to remember that even the possibility of suicide by a Chinese girl of seven years must receive some consideration, even if it did not possess their minds altogether. They must not shut out any possibility in considering whether or not, beyond all reasonable doubt, a youth in the dock had been proved guilty of this most brutal murder. There were three possibilities: that the man in the box committed the murder; that somebody else committed it; or that the girl took her own life.

Explaining his own position in the case Mr. Jenkin said that it was the custom in this colony, as it was the custom at home, in certain cases in which poor prisoners were concerned, for the Judge to obtain counsel to act for them. That was the capacity in which he was acting today. He was not necessarily the prisoner's advocate, but had been merely instructed to assist the court and the Attorney General in coming to a conclusion, whether or not this man committed the murder. Therefore he felt that he was more than usually on a par with the Attorney General in taking his part in putting the evidence before the Court and assisting it to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion upon it. He reminded the jury that there was a material difference between the way a Court of law and the ordinary laymen looked at the facts of such a case. The court of law accepted only those facts which were sworn to in the witness box, and then considered whether those facts pointed to the man in the dock. The suggestion he made in this case was that the witnesses in this case, natives and laymen as they were, had gone their own way to argue that the prisoner was guilty, and having done that they started thinking out facts and seeing if they fitted in with the conclusion they had come to. That, he suggested, was the state of mind in which the witnesses approached the case, and it afforded a possible explanation of some of the inconsistencies and some of the unnecessary extravagances to which they deplored in the witness box. As the Attorney General had said, it was rare that in a murder case there were witnesses who saw the crime.

Shanghai Piece Goods.

Messrs. Noel, Murray & Co. Shanghai write as follows in their weekly piece goods report dated 3rd inst.:

Piece Goods.

Local Market.—The business that has been done here, has been only of a retail nature, enquiries for twenty packages resulting in the sale of one or two; but hopes are held out of another spurt next month, by which time it is thought likely much of the money invested during the first three weeks of September, will have returned to the local dealers.

equipping them with the necessary ready cash to buy more goods. For our part we cannot see how anything like a good trade can be done without strong financial help being accorded to the Chinese dealers.

In the first place the money that exists, must be brought up to standard, as it were, then a dollar or its paper representative, would be worth a dollar everywhere; and in the next place, by a return of confidence so that the banks which have stocks of specie would be agreeable to lend it to those native banks who need it, and they in turn must be willing to make advances to the merchants and dealers as formerly. It is certainly up to importers, who are becoming crippled by the prevailing stagnation of trade, to combine to devise means by which things can be got moving again.

Auctions.—In all 5,600 pieces less than last week were put up. Some of the 10-lbs. and heavier weight Grey Shirtings improved a little, but on the whole the market was flat. Kung Ping reduced their White Shirtings 700 pieces but mostly lower prices resulted. Ewo had one chop up and one down, Yuen Fong with 1,150 pieces less, saw an improvement with most of the chops of over Tls. 4 in value. Plain and Bleached T-Cloths went both ways and of the Jeans, the majority a bit. Turkey Reds went a shade better. Velvets were down a fraction. Black Italians had a varied experience and when competed for did well. The Venetians did not altogether maintain their strength. With the exception of Lastings, the Fanciers went strongly.

American Goods.—There has been no Newchwang departure this week and from all accounts the movement of stocks has been very slack during the interval. Custom House returns show a reduction in stock of 55,210 pieces off those given in our last issue. The producing market is a strong and advancing one, as shown by the only quotation we have succeeded in learning, viz., 12s, 10d, for a leading chop of 3 Yard Sheetings. The price for these Goods here is from Tls. 4.80 to Tls. 4.70. Newchwang exchange is 970.

Home Markets.—The export

figures for two weeks ending 17th October, were 10,000,000 yards of Plain Cottons from the U. K. and Manchester market is reported firm and prices strong and higher. Reuter gives Hornby's 8s 10d to 8s 10d and the Yarn 11s to 11s higher. Mail advices relate how closely events pointed to a general outlook early this month in Lancashire, but the wires have not shown that matters went so far as to make that extremity a necessity, so it may be assumed, the trouble has been settled in a more pacific manner in consequence of the rise in the price of the raw material, (fibre) that were outstanding were hurriedly withdrawn and prices advanced, forward.

Cotton Yarn

There has been very little done in the Indian department except as recorded below. Rather larger quantities of Japanese spinings have been disposed of, but we hear of only one transaction in Local Yarn. We are pleased to report that the International Cotton Mill Company, has had a successful year, the P. & L. Account showing a credit balance of roughly 23 1/2 lakhs of Rupees.

Indian.—The business done from first hands amounts to 730 bales only the No. 10s, being bought for Newchwang, Tientsin and Szechuen and No. 12s. are for Kiangsu and Szechuen. The bargains were as follows:—

No. 10s, 495 bales; Empress Mill Tls. 92.00. Tea Carrier Tls. 94.00. Sorab Mill Tls. 93.00. Imperial Mill Tls. 94.00. Sorab Mill Tls. 97.98.00 and Ed. Sassoon, (late Tientsin) Tls. 98.00.

No. 12s, 240 bales; Morjee P. Tls. 95.00. Currimbhoy Mills (Mule) Tls. 101.00 and Sassoon, Mayer (late Naranje) Tls. 101.75 102.00.

The N.Y. K. S. Jinsen Maru has arrived with 1,289 bales.

Japanese.—A slightly increased business has been done during the week and transactions reported amount to 1,350 bales.

The prices now current for No. 16s. are Tls. 105.45-114.00 and No. 20s. Tls. 112.25-121.00. The latest quotations ruling on the O-saka Exchange are as follows:—

Yen 144.00 for November and Yen 143.80 for December. Sales are as under:—

No. 16s, 1,050 bales; Sains Child Tls. 105.65, Sakai Tls. 108.25, 2 Deer Tls. 111.50, 2 Women Tls. 112.00. Standing Horse Tls. 112.25, Woman Tls. 113.00, Horras Tls. 113.25, and Blue Fish Tls. 114.00.

No. 20s, 800 bales; Sundry Chops Tls. 112.25 Bird Tls. 113.25, Red Syces Joss Tls. 113.50 Boys Tls. 115.50.

Local.—We only hear of one sale, 500 bales No. 15s. 2 Tiger (Chop at Tls. 109.30. Some of the retail prices are easier for bundles, the current quotations being:—

No. 10s Tls. 94.75-97.25 No. 12s Tls. 95.50-101.75, No. 14s. Tls. 96.75-104.25 and No. 16s. Tls. 99.75-107.75.

Twins' School Record.

A unique school record has been established by the twin children—Fred and Norah—of Mr and Mrs Fairbrass, of Bridge, Kent (England), who have just completed their ninth year of unbroken attendance at the village school. The Kent Education Committee has granted them a special award of merit. A third child in the same family has not been absent once during the last five years.

A Prince with the Hot Water.

When Professor Vambury, the famous Orientalist whose death was recently announced, was staying at Sandringham, he rang the bell in his bedroom for some hot water. No one came, so he rang again, and yet again. Then a youth, after knocking at the door, entered the room. "Do you want something, professor?" he inquired. "Yes," replied Vambury, "I have been ringing for some hot water."

"Oh," said the youth, "wait a moment and I will get you some."

Two or three minutes later the boy returned with a can of hot water, which he placed on the professor's table. The obliging boy was King Edward's second son, now King George V.

THE ARMEN'S SALUTE.

A dramatic yet touching little ceremony was carried out by a squadron of aeroplanes at St. Clair, S. W. France, the Mail says:

One of the machines belonging to this squadron fell some weeks ago just as it was about to start its flight from Paris to the manne-vren area. Both the officer piloting it and the mechanic were killed. The latter, a young man named Laforge, whose home was in the little village, was buried there only ten days ago.

Later the six aeroplanes of the squadron to which the dead officer belonged, flying from Alen to St. Clair, passed within sight of his grave in the churchyard. As they soared over his whirling engine and dipped downwards for a few seconds as a silent sign of tribute to his comrade who had died on duty.

Standing at the graveside, the young soldier's father, a white-haired peasant, attending the grave, bowed his head as each motor became suddenly silent.

Wind Too Swift

The highest velocities of the wind have only been estimated, never measured, for there are no instruments that will measure them. A Robinson anemometer was blown away when registering 120 miles an hour in Jamaica on November 13 last year. The highest velocity on record is 186 miles an hour, measured by an anemometer on Mt. Washington, January 1st, 1878.

An effort has been made to estimate the velocity of the wind in a tornado, basing it on some of its effects. A pine board was driven through a telegraph pole, another was driven three inches into the trunk of a tree, and it was calculated that such effects could have been produced only by a force little less than a cannon ball or somewhere between 600 and 500 miles an hour.

A wind-proof anemometer is needed.
